

flows with the natural terrain of lakes, centuries-old live oaks, and spectacular marsh and river views. Featuring rare-for-the-area 35-foot elevation changes and South Carolina's most beautiful stretch of the Intracoastal Waterway.

This is truly a wonderful site for a championship golf course. Each hole seems to have been crafted by nature rather than by man. The three finishing holes are among the world's best.

The magnificent Glen Dornoch club house features a traditionally-decorated pro shop with an extensive fashion collection. The Pub offers homemade salads, fresh sandwiches, and delicious daily specials...all served with a tranquil view of the unique double green of 9 and 18, plus the scenic Intracoastal Waterway.

Designed by Clyde Johnston in a tribute to the legendary Donald Ross, Glen Dornoch is a traditional course where each hole

Keep drive as close to bunkers on left as you dare, to give you best angle for your second. Avoid pot bunker and over the green.

Red Handicap 11

All uphill, anything center or just right of center is perfect. Make sure to take enough club for uphill second, must clear front bunkers.

Red Handicap 9

Neat little dogleg left, play short and safe, you have a blind second; go for it with the drive, keeping it slightly right, as trouble is worst on left.

Red Handicap 17

Try to keep your drive down left side for best angle to carry wetlands on second shot. Keep second shot to left side of fairway for best angle approaching the green. Very deep green, make sure of your yardage.

66 yds. to carry wetlands.
176 to 2nd wetland.

262 yds. from white marker to wetlands.
215 to bunker.

Red Handicap 1

There is a lot of fairway left, the key is to place your ball as close to wetlands as possible to get a shorter shot to green. Second is again uphill, take extra club to carry front bunker.

Red Handicap 15

Keep drive left center, safe second should favor left side again; however, the best place to be is as close to right edge of fairway as you dare for best angle into green for the third shot.

Red Handicap 5

Tee shot not defined well because of wetlands. A finger of wetland on right measures yards from blue tee, either play short of it, or take enough club to make sure you can clear it. The second and third shots are straight away.

219 yds. to wetlands from white marker

76 yds. to carry wetland from front edge.

Red Handicap 18

Keep drive down left side of fairway; a short hole, so placement more important than distance. Second should carry on to green, as there is a diabolical mound hidden from view just short of green to deflect short shots.
